

GROUP 2 - LANGUAGE B – FRENCH

Date syllabus ends	Review Start Date	If formal assessments are completed early, how will students be engaged until the end of the term?
HL French	Formal review will begin at the beginning of April.	We will continue our literary studies: Incendies Our review will then consist of the reading and analysis of magazine and journal articles. And the response to these in written composition formats that mirror the IB essay questions. The students have been evaluated on their writing and reading skills throughout February and in early March. The IB Second language programme is a skills based curriculum. As a result it is imperative that students attend classes so that they can maintain these communication skills. It is quite conceivable that a student's ability will diminish significantly within a month if he has very little practice.
SL French	Formal exam review will begin at the beginning of April.	We will continue both reading and writing practice through various activities done in class. The students have notified us what it is that they want to review and we will touch upon these in the upcoming classes leading up to exam review week. Our hope is that the review classes will provide material that the boys want to work on and keep them engaged with the language.
