

GROUP 3 - INDIVIDUALS AND SOCIETIES - ECONOMICS

Date syllabus ends	Review Start Date	If formal assessments are completed early, how will students be engaged until the end of the term?
Mid April	Late April	Formal assessments are completed right up until the Y12 assessment deadline after March Break. Because students have no prerequisites in economics, they learn all new material right up until the end of the course/review week. Students must stay engaged in the course until the end to do well in the exam. The material at the end of the course (development economics) is a mandatory component of the external assessment (i.e., they must answer at least one question on international development). We will have a number of review activities including handouts, Kahoots, old exams, reviewing test structures, review activities, and summary lessons.
